

Chelta Davis Brown

1850-1950 Lehi Centennial History

Chelta Davis Brown, daughter of Elisha H, and Sarah E. Stewart Davis was born at Lehi. She attended Lehi grade and high school and Brigham Young University at Provo. She married Alexander Brown of Lehi in the Salt Lake Temple and for two years lived in Idaho Falls, Idaho, where her first son was born. They returned to Lehi where their home was blessed with three other sons.

Twenty-three years ago the family moved to Seattle, Washington, where they have since made their home. Chelta has been active in church work all her life. In Lehi she was a member of the second Ward, where as a girl she taught Sunday School and Mutual and was a member of the ward and stake choirs. In Seattle she served in the presidency of the various ward and auxiliaries and on the stake boards.

Chelta has been a guiding influence in the lives of her four sons. Two filled honorable missions for the Church. All served their country during World War II and now reside in Seattle. Her eldest son, Roger, is practicing medicine; Barlow, her second son, works with his father as a salesman for the Utah Woolen Mills. Her third son Shirl, attends dental school at the University of Washington. Clyde, the youngest son, is studying pre-medicine at the same university.

In spite of the great distance from Seattle, Chelta and family manage a yearly trip to Lehi. Chelta says Lehi will always be home to the Browns.
